ONCE again a senior class has played out its part in the history of Andover.

The Andover Shop expresses appreciation for the part it has been privileged to play in the success of the Class of 1935 through providing correct dress in keeping with their high standards.

Stronger, faster, longer-lasting—because close scientific control keeps in balance these two important factors that make for string quality—strength and resilience.

Balance-Tested gut is strong—but without extra weight, stiffness or thickness. It's never dead, never produces a "boardy" racket.

Balance-Tested gut is resilient—to give snap and speed to strokes. But never over-resilient, never "rubbery."

For a perfect playing racket, ask for Balance-Tested gut strung with the Master Krafter Stringer—to measured poundage tension.

Our Tribute

In Memoriam: Elias Bullard Bishop

*And now in reverend memory, of one Whose ship of state has sailed the horizon
To journey peacefully beneath the sun
Ascending slowly to illuminate
A foreign shore, this thought we consecrate:
To pray he may alway in us create A truer aim to live our lives as he Did so live his in endless loyalty
And service to this great Academy.
So reverence be to him who right revered;
Who steadfast stood when Life's dark veil was cleared
And heaven's purports suddenly appeared.
For through the Soul God's creatures here on earth
Learn of His consequence, of Life's real worth: Birth's the end of Death as Death of Birth.*

THE VISTA FROM SAMUEL PHILLIPS HALL

Junior Year

AND another group of innocents came out from under the family wing in September, 1931. Most of us felt a bit blue for the first week or so at being treated like a combination valet and porter without a friend in the world. Soon, however, we were almost too completely forgotten and were left to our own resources and to get acquainted with our new surroundings. We had not been back more than a month when Dr. Stearns was taken sick. Though we had known him only slightly in the short time that we had been here, we fully appreciated the loss which the whole school felt at his departure. Dr. Forbes became Acting Headmaster.

The football team, captained by Webb Davis, had been having an unusually successful season, and we had great hopes for a victory with the traditional parade and bonfire. We came back to Andover a gloomy lot after Exeter had won the game 15 to 12 by a field goal by Ken Willis. The soccer team squared the account by continuing its long string of victories with a score of 5 to 0. The rest of the term was spent in preparing for our exams by what we thought at the time was hard work.

We had all heard about the long, dreary winter term and did not know quite what to expect. There were several events, however, that brightened things up a little. Exeter was beaten in basketball in an exciting game in which Captain Barr scored the winning basket in an overtime. Though we lost in hockey by the score of 2 to 1, the Exeter swimmers were easily overcome by a strong Andover team. The crowning event of the term came when Foster's chicken house caught on fire, and the whole school turned out to see what could be done. A few of the snowballs that were intended for the blaze hit the firemen instead, who retaliated by turning the hose on the crowd. The fun ended when Scoop Vorse was taken to the town jail. What with an alarm clock going off during the Vespers service, and the Williams Hall boys pulling each other up and down the fire ropes from the third story, there was plenty of excitement for the remainder of the term.

We returned in the Spring ready to make the most of the weather that Andover does not seem to be able to offer in the winter term. In spite of pinch-hitter Stevens's home run Exeter won the baseball game 7 to 5. The track team won an easy victory over Exeter, and even though we deemed ourselves real Andover men by that time, the upper class men insisted on making up for the "Prep" parade they had missed in the fall.

As the year came to a close, the grass was growing up beside the Art Gallery where the old Chapel had stood, and the Sunday services which had been conducted in George Washington Hall were transferred to the beautiful new Chapel.

With our first year at Andover at an end we departed for the vacation with an eager desire to return in the following September to accomplish new and wonderful feats,—and even teach the fresh "preps" a few lessons.

FREDERICK W. GRIFFIN

Lower Middle Year

WE were even glad to get back this fall, for now we were "old men." We strutted self-consciously about the campus, and condescendingly told the now lowly preps all about the intricacies of school life. Our bubble, however, was ruthlessly broken when someone in a loud and commanding voice yelled, "Hey Preps, yes you..." What an insult, yet what an awakening. We suddenly realized that we weren't such big shots after all, but just a small part of the mass.

Upon our return in the fall we learned that the idol of all Andover men for thirty years, Al Stearns, was unable to resume his part as headmaster, and that Charlie Forbes, beloved for his kindness, humor, and legendary Virgil classes, was acting headmaster at the educational helm. It was with a terrible shock that we awoke one morning in the winter term to learn that Dr. Forbes had died during the night. His death was an additional blow to all those connected with the school, who had just previously mourned the death of Cecil K. Bancroft, for years the registrar of the Academy, and James Hardy Ropes, President of the Board of Trustees for over twenty years. It was then, after great deliberation to find a really worthy man, that the Trustees named Claude Moore Fuess as tenth headmaster.

Judging as always by the Exeter contests, our teams were very successful in the fall and winter terms. The football game was made more personal to us as four of our classmates, Sears, Hite, Burdick, and Kellogg, were in the starting line-up; but in spite of our cheers and enthusiasm the Red and Gray skidded to a slim and muddy victory of six to nothing. An added attraction to the season's athletics was the Andover vs. Exeter faculty touch football game, in which the Exeter pedagogues were defeated amid the good-natured hoots, jeers, and sometimes humorous remarks of the school wits. The B A A relay and the never-failing soccer team were the only Andover teams that salved our wounded pride, while the basketball, swimming and hockey honors went to Exeter.

The deadly winter term passed slowly by with its accompanying drizzles, slush, runny noses, and rest cures in the infirmary. Because of the rotten weather our spare time was spent inside the dorm, and that is where the trouble begins. We were lowers, and felt a malicious pleasure in teaching the preps our knowledge gleaned from painful experience the year before. It was always due to that little satan surnamed "dick" who whispered devilments into our ears which we were powerless to resist. It was under his influence that we debate whether 2Π or not 2Π (it's a gag) someone's bed, or whether to go whole hog and wreck his room. Ah! a wrecked room! What a sight! The contents of bureau, desk, closet, and walls scattered about the floor. The supreme ecstasy of all, however, was to dump some quietly sleeping victim's bed over, so that he was between the mattress and cold hard floor!

Then came spring, the most important time of the year. It is the signal for that final studious spurt for exams and our first taste of the compulsory curse, the college boards. In athletics we shared the honors with Exeter by winning track and losing baseball. So physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight, we left the seclusion of Andover Hill for another summer of much needed rest.

WIRT RANDALL CATES

Upper Middle Year

AFTER a pleasant summer, which could have been made more pleasant by abolishing College Board results, we returned to the Hill to grind, loaf, or float through the academic year of 1933-1934. There was a great change that year, however; we were Uppers, and thus, far superior to our lower classmen. As we coasted along toward the first rating, we noticed improvements from the preceding year. Using the "trial and error" system, the Sunday afternoon chapel service had been abolished. The trial was made in the spring of our Lower Middle year, and many of us remember how thankful we were not to have to be back from a week-end until eight o'clock. Furthermore, Sunday morning chapel was put ahead a half-hour, giving us that much more of an incentive to sleep and miss breakfast.

It was hard to watch the football team lose to Exeter by so slight a margin as 7-6, because we all felt that they could have won if they had had a couple of minutes more. All the credit that we could muster, however, went to Jim Ryley for making such a fine soccer team, with only one letter-man for a nucleus, and for upholding his long-standing winning streak. In the winter term, our defeat in hockey by our New Hampshire cousins was, no doubt, because of insufficient ice during the season. The swimming meet at Exeter was so close that our dear friends up there had trouble in figuring the result. We were announced the winners, but since that did not look just right to them, together with the mere factor of incorrect adding, they finally won. Will you ever forget the indoor track meet that year? The outcome depended on the relay race. Although giving the whole team a great deal of credit, Jake Wolf's spectacular burst of speed needs special mention. We didn't see the wrestling meet, but we were glad to hear of the victory.

Having passed through a winter term of severe weather, of hard work, and of the usual number of epidemics, with only the Senior Prom to cheer us up, we cursed our luck that the vacation was over and returned to the Hill. Shortly after the term got under way, a considerable portion of the school witnessed the first wedding service to take place in the new chapel, that of Dr. Page's daughter. As summer came on with its balmy weather, we grew lazy and began to argue that it was more profitable to go canoeing or golfing than to do geometry. Once more we could walk down to Leon's with sleeves rolled up and bare arms hanging out, instead of with our collars turned up and a bear skin hanging on.

Then came our glorious defeat of the Exeter track team—out-of-doors—while we all drank chocolate milk and tried to keep cool. Shortly after that we enviously watched all the Juniors leave for home (but of course we did not let on that we envied them) while we stayed for College Boards. The Spring Prom diverted our attention from such matters for a while, however. Thus for three years having gathered a wealth of knowledge—we hope,—having become steeped in P. A. tradition, and having observed just how "hot-rockish" not to be, we looked forward to another big year—as Seniors.

NORMAN C. CROSS

Senior Year

N the nineteenth of September we were safely re-installed after a great summer. The thought of school, however, seemed less unendurable because we were Seniors, the last and best of all the years had been reached and we had attained the much-disputed privileges: three weekends a term, smoking in the appointed places, and staying on the "Senior fence" until ten o'clock on Saturday evening. We've missed, however, both Mr. and Mrs. Heely whom Lawrenceville has wooed and won; and we feel particularly deeply the loss of Judge Elias Bishop, as great a man and friend (as all who knew him can vouch) as an executive.

The "new deal" under Dr. Fuess is growing old and established. Rockwell House and the addition to the Infirmary, which, incidentally, is larger than the original, are nearing completion. Symbols of the old system (compulsory vespers, paying for our movies, etc.) are things of the dim past. And speaking of free movies, which have been wonderful, the blanket charge seems to have worked out perfectly. With the introduction of a Question Box into the Meeting Room, many suggestions have been made by the school and passed by Dr. Fuess and the Faculty, such as a definite move toward non-compulsory athletics for Seniors in the spring term.

Athletically we've had a successful year. A 7-6 triumph over a reputedly superior Exeter football team, coupled with another undefeated season for Jim Ryley's prodigies, gave the year a wonderful start. And although we were beaten by Exeter in winter track (a questionable performance on their part) and in basketball, we won the B. A. A. relay despite the absence of Captain Wolf. The swimming team ran "amuck"; and in the Exeter meet they broke or tied every record, making up for last year's squabble. The wrestling team won a victory led by an undefeated captain.

Now Spring! The foul weather of winter (snow in April) is forgotten with the promise, no more than a promise in New England, of sunshine. The track team, having won the Harvard interscholastics for the fourth successive year, looks powerful; and still more records, over and above those broken in the Cage, seem to be in danger. The baseball team has won and lost. However, it's better to have won and lost than never to have won at all; and here's hoping for a repetition of last year's triumph over Exeter.

The fateful fourteenth of June draws near. Everyone is increasingly conscious of how little time there is to graduation and the college boards. The thought of Jimmie Lunceford is an attraction to us all—at least those of us who have not lost all faith since "Omaha" won both the Derby and the Preakness. However, it has been a good year and a good climax, and we're lucky to have been able to spend it here.

GLEE CLUB

ANDOVER'S musical clubs have been very active this year in all their many activities. Dr. Pfatteicher concentrated his efforts on the choir alone. Brilliantly decked out in blue collared cassocks this year for the first time, it has sung some special selection every Sunday of the year.

The Glee Club got off to a fine start under its new leader, Mr. Noss, with a large membership of about eighty boys. The club was treated to a most enjoyable dance at Rogers Hall after its concert there late in the fall term. A return dance was held in February at Andover. A joint concert was given in George Washington Hall with Bradford on April 13, followed by a delightful dance. On May 15 a very fine concert was given with our Abbot neighbors. The annual concert with Exeter, to be given at home this year, is scheduled for May 18.

The band has had a very active year under the able guidance of Mr. D. Ives of Boston. It played at most of the later games in the football season, and early in the spring term started practice for performance at most of the baseball games. It, of course, was an important element in all the rallies, and, although not quite as large as last year's band, it performed excellently at all the major Exeter contests.

The orchestra, which always has been very small for the size of the school, was handicapped by a slightly smaller membership than usual. Nevertheless, it has had a very successful year under the leadership of Mr. Noss. It played at the Rogers Hall concert, where one of its numbers was accompaniment to the singing of "Land-sighting" by Grieg. Plans were made for the usual concert with Exeter, to come in May.

DRAMATIC CLUB

HE Phillips Academy Dramatic Club presented for last commencement's play The Bad Man, a satirical comedy of western life by Porter E. Browne. Under the direction of Mr. George Grenville Benedict, the cast put on a performance said by most to be even superior to the winter production. The acting of Jud Morgan, in the role of a fearless and carefree Mexican bandit, was the highlight of the show. Morgan is the most talented actor that has appeared on the Andover stage in several years. The performance of W. E. Littlefield and Frank Rounds, Jr., who supplied the billing and cooing, were second only to Morgan's; the other members of the cast were not outstanding. A large factor in the success of this entertainment was Lederer and Hazen's convincing reconstruction of the interior of an adobe ranch-house.

This winter the Dramatic Club presented The Milky Way, a modern farce by Lynn Root and Harry Clork. This play is quite new and definitely not run-of-the-mill; Mr. Cook, the director, chose it wisely. The action concerned the prizefight "racket," with the dialogue the American argot of the streets. Replete with "slapstick" and wise-cracks, the play was well suited to entertain the student audience. The two outstanding members of the cast were Gordon King and George Swope. Both were well chosen for their parts; the acting of both was convincing. The set, by R. M. Lederer and A. Hazen, was adequate but not startling.

THE PHILOMATHEAN SOCIETY, the 110-year old debating organization of Phillips Academy, passed a moderately successful season with a total of seven debates. With meetings held every Wednesday evening during the winter term, the society strove this year to adopt subjects more closely related to the interests and inclinations of the members. As a result the meetings drew a regular, interested audience. Acting as judge at these meetings was Mr. Higgins of the English Department, who likewise coached the Andover debating team, picked from the outstanding members of Philo.

The first Philo debate was on the question, "Resolved: that a man prominent in extra-curricular activities in college is more likely to succeed than one who excels scholastically." The negative team of G. Bradford, Ballard, and Weissman won over the affirmative of Wingate, Woolley, and Wickwire by a point score of 770-730.

The second debate embraced the subject, "Resolved: that foreign trade is on the whole detrimental to the best interests of the United States." L. Murphy, R. Smith, and Fitts, representing the negative, were awarded the decision over A. Adams, Carey, and Twombly by a score of 775-755.

Harvey, Bowen, and Reed, supporting the affirmative side in the next meeting, defeated with a score of 780-755 the negative of L. Smith, Korndorfer, and Oler. The subject debated was, "Resolved: that the large college is better suited to the demands of education than the small college."

The next subject was, "Resolved: that a judge or board of judges should be substituted for the jury in criminal courts in the United States." The affirmative team Trafton, R. Thompson, and McCormick were victorious by a score of 785-750.

"That Andover students have more liberty than they can profitably use" was discussed at the fourth debate. Spitzer, Trafton, and Ballard, defending the affirmative, were victorious over Burr, W. Hart, and Bemis with a score of 825-775.

In the following debate, in which the audience was asked to judge, a general decision was rendered in favor of B. Bradford, Coker, and Masback, defending the negative against P. T. Coursen, J. Hart, and Osborn. The topic discussed was, "Resolved: that student managerships should be abolished at Andover."

The final meeting saw a negative team of L. Paine, Crompton and Cochran gain a narrow victory of 725-720 over Fitts, Townsend, and Timbie. The subject in question was, "Resolved: that labor unions are beneficial to the working class."

The Phillips Academy Debating Team

HE debating team this year competed against three outside schools—the Dartmouth Freshmen, Ware High School, and Exeter. The Dartmouth debate, “Resolved, that the several states should adopt a system of socialized medicine” was lost with Andover upholding the affirmative. Beaty, Ballard, and Spitzer represented Andover. This same team lost to Exeter upholding the negative of the question “Resolved, that the moving pictures of today do more good than harm.” But Spitzer, H. Smith, and Ballard succeeded in overcoming Ware High School on the negative side of “Resolved, that the opportunity for education should be equalized by federal grants to the states.” The Robinson Prize Debate was won by Spitzer, N. Fitts, and Harvey over Ballard, Reigeluth, and H. Smith upholding the affirmative of the question, “Resolved, that this house pities its grandchildren.”

MORE than one hundred years ago a group of the more pious members of Phillips Academy banded together and formed the Society of Inquiry. Its original purpose at the time of founding was to interest and train boys who intended to take up the field of missionary work. Since that time the Society has varied greatly from period to period in its purpose and type of work, but through all the years of its existence it has always retained the fundamental principle upon which it is based: the encouraging and strengthening of the ideals of Christianity in the school.

The program maintained by the Society for the year 1934-35 has been successful in all respects due for the most part to the able direction of President John Bishop. Although the budget of $2,000 set by the Executive Board was not raised in total, still the amount which was collected from the students and faculty was used to great advantage in varied branches of charity and relief work. The budget supported among other things—the Student Division of the Y. M. C. A., Toc H, The Loan Library, The Grenfell Mission, The Hampton Institute, and a reception held at the first of the school year to welcome all new men. In addition to this the Society maintained two large scholarships, established last year to be given to the under-graduates who most nearly conduct their daily lives according to the ideals of the Society. At the Andover Guild the Society did great service in giving money to pay the cost of hiring an additional instructor and worker.

During the year under the auspices of the Society of Inquiry speakers on a wide range of subjects were presented to the students of the Academy at Sunday evening meetings. Among these are such prominent lecturers as Norman Thomas, Rev. Erdman Harris, Rev. J. H. Holmes, Rev. Howard Thurman, and Rev. Arthur Kinsolving. At one meeting held during the winter term the Society set a new precedent when representatives of America's three greatest religions, a Jewish Rabbi, a Catholic Priest, and a Protestant Minister all spoke from the same platform, each giving the viewpoint of his religion upon vital questions of the present day world. Much credit is due to Mr. Baldwin, the faculty adviser, for his work in securing so outstanding a program of speakers.

The Clay Pipe

HE Clay Pipe Club is an honorary literary organization whose members are selected on the basis of interest and ability in literature or the arts. While it is understood that at prep school this interest and ability may not be fully developed, at the same time this club offers a congenial social group for boys attracted by these subjects. Meetings are held each Sunday afternoon and the program may consist of an original paper by one of the members, an outside speaker, or an informal discussion. Visiting lecturers or chapel service speakers are often entertained at the club, on which occasions the meeting usually takes the form of an open forum. While the group is primarily literary, no attempt is made to confine the range of subject matter as long as some cultural benefit may be derived from it.

The organization has comfortable quarters at the Faculty Club building, and through the kind co-operation of Mr. Hopper and Mr. Buttmer the walls and ceilings were re-done and a new bookcase was built to accommodate the small library which has been started. The nucleus of this library was formed with books from the collection of the late Charles H. Forbes through the courtesy of the library. The club is a member of the Literary Guild and also subscribes to half a dozen or so weekly and monthly magazines.

The club from time to time elects new members on the recommendation of the English department. The group is limited to a membership of thirty, and its members are chosen only from the two upper classes.

During the year the club heard speakers or papers on a variety of subjects. Among the most interesting of the guests of the club was Oliver LaFarge, who was awarded the Pulitzer prize for fiction because of his novel, "Laughing Boy." Norman Thomas, leader of the Socialist party in the U. S., presided at an open discussion. Mr. L. D. Peterkin of the faculty spoke informally on "The Life and Works of Joseph Conrad." Dr. T. Z. Koo of China gave a brief resumé of the various movements in Chinese literature during the past half-century. Mr. George C. Turner, the master of Marlborough College in England, led an open discussion centering on the similarities and differences between secondary schools here and abroad. Dr. Patrick Malin of Swarthmore College spoke informally on economics. Papers, written by members, were heard on "Sidney Lanier," "The Elizabethan Theatre," and "The Greek Theatre."

During the year Dr. Claude M. Fuess and Mr. Arthur W. Leonard, head of the English department, were made honorary members, as were Mr. Henry S. Hopper and Mr. Allan V. Heely.

The Radio Club

The Phillips Academy Radio Club Station, WISW, went on the air in late September with a small "Transceiver" and almost twice as many members as last year. The only returning operator, W. C. Arrasmith, was elected President, while two new men, George G. Symes and A. W. Brown, were designated to serve as Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer respectively. Somewhat surprising was the unusual interest in the Club shown by the Junior Class, no less than three men from Williams Hall joining its ranks. During the winter term two new members appeared to swell the total to eleven at which figure it remained—the largest group in many years.

In order to start the season right the shack was first completely cleaned out and the famous stove made in readiness for the cold that was to come. A much-needed donation from Dr. Fuess soon made it possible to begin the construction of suitable transmitting equipment for operation on the 5, 20, 40, and 80 meter bands in conjunction with receivers loaned by members. While this was being completed, however, interest was centered on 5-meter phone with the result that WISW soon became a well-known and highly successful member of the 56-m. c. "gang" in eastern Massachusetts. A very commendable range of some thirty miles was maintained consistently on this primarily local band, the highlights of the season developing in a two-way communication with an airplane over Boston.

Less successful was the work on 20, 40, and 80 meters. In spite of limited operating hours, however, the Club was still able to maintain regular contact with all parts of the United States and several foreign countries. The hardier members often arose early in the morning for the purpose of keeping this record intact, but with the coming of colder weather even they were forced to suspend operation temporarily. Just before the Easter recess everybody again went actively on the air, using a Zepp antenna and concentrating on 20 meters.

With the coming of Spring WISW's power was increased considerably with noticeably good results. Before long new foreign verification cards had been received to supplement those already lining the walls of the shack which certify contact with forty-six countries. The goal of the members, a "Worked All Continents" certificate, was not reached because of the absence of an Asiatic card. Another objective, however, was realized with the introduction of 20-meter phone transmission. This and some surprisingly good "DX" reception constituted the highlights of the latter part of the school year.

ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY

ORGANIZED early in the fall term of 1934, the Astronomical Society received the enthusiastic support of a group of about fifteen boys. Richard Weissman, organizer of the Society, was unanimously elected President, and George Burr, Vice-President and Secretary. The Society grew out of the need to supply an outlet for scientific interest in those who wanted to apply this interest outside of the classroom. A telescope mirror and mounting made and given to the Academy by a former student formed the nucleus of the apparatus of the Society, but after a discussion of a new base and mounting, it was decided to hold only lecture meetings because of the expense and bad condition of the mirror.

During the Fall Term, talks were given mainly by the student members of the club, who, either from their own store of knowledge or by library research gathered material on scientific subjects relating directly or indirectly to Astronomy. Mr. Boyce spoke upon the more technical side of light and optics in relation to the telescope. The Society in the Winter Term was very fortunate in being able to secure two speakers from outside the school. The first was Mr. L. B. Andrews, executive secretary to Dr. Shapley of Harvard Observatory, and editor of The Telescope, a magazine devoted to the interests of Amateur Astronomy. To a large group of members and many others Mr. Andrews discussed the changes of astronomy and our conceptions of the expanding universe, illustrating the lecture with lantern slides and supplementing this with moving pictures of the pouring of the new 200-inch telescope at the Corning Glass Works.

The second lecturer was Mr. Wallace Cox, ballistic engineer in the Smokeless Powder Department of the du Pont de Nemours Company. A large audience which filled the front half of George Washington Hall listened attentively as he described the evolution of firearms, the improvement of design and propellant powders, illustrating his points with pictures of the guns and testing apparatus of the du Pont Company.

new organization? No, "Circle A" is not a group of Andover ranchers, but, quite on the other hand, the group formerly known as "Toc H."

Andover's Toc H group, organized in 1928, was one of the American offshoots of the great English organization established soon after the end of the Great War. Because of various technical divergences from the English Toc H the American groups have this last winter either changed their basis of organization or disbanded.

Hence the change in the name of the Andover group. It remains, however, almost identical in its aims and practices with its worthy predecessor, Toc H. It sends forth to its members a hearty challenge to be of service to the community, to pull together in striving to spread the gospel by living it.

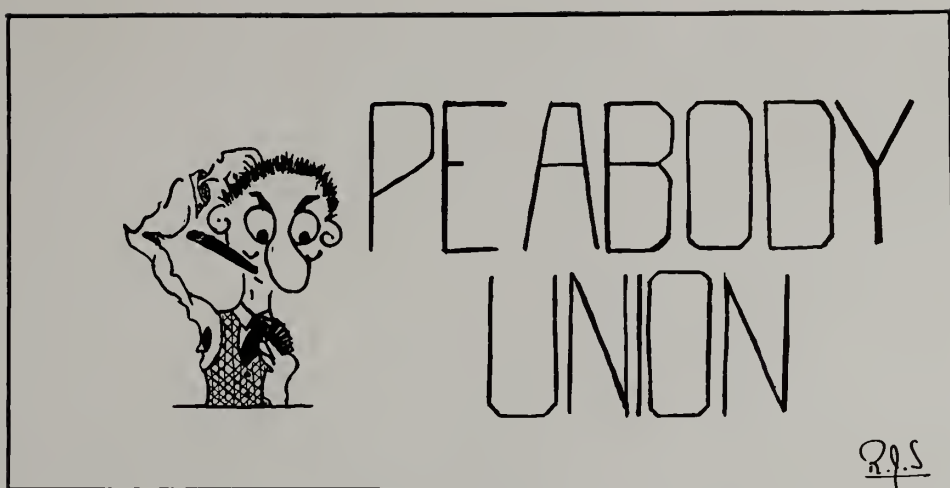

In the fall term Circle A distributed Thanksgiving dinners to ten of Andover's most needy families. Just before the Christmas vacation a party was held at the Log Cabin for eighty youngsters from the Andover Guild. A great treat it was for them. A group of World War veterans was given a dinner at the Cabin, after being entertained at the New Hampshire football game.

The customary assistance to the Andover Guild on Wednesdays and Saturdays has been rendered throughout the year with great success. Four boys have given much of their time to this work with unfortunate town children, gaining much valuable experience.

An old clothes drive has been held at the end of every term, with very gratifying results. Great quantities of clothes, magazines, and victrola records were divided among the C. C. C., the Red Cross, and the veterans' hospital in Danvers.

During the fall term Circle A sponsored an educational program for the Andover C. C. C. men. It also staged, in co-operation with the Oliver Wendell Holmes Library, a campaign for funds with which to buy dollar editions of fine books to contribute to the C. C. C. Camp. It was very successful indeed, and the books given have been put to the best possible use. This spring a grand time was had entertaining the C. C. C. Editorial Club at dinner at the Log Cabin. They reciprocated by having Circle A out to dinner at the 110th Company Camp and by showing the group all around it one Wednesday afternoon.

A drive for books with which to build up a good library in the infirmary is being planned for the spring term, and the end of the year should see very valuable accomplishment in that direction.

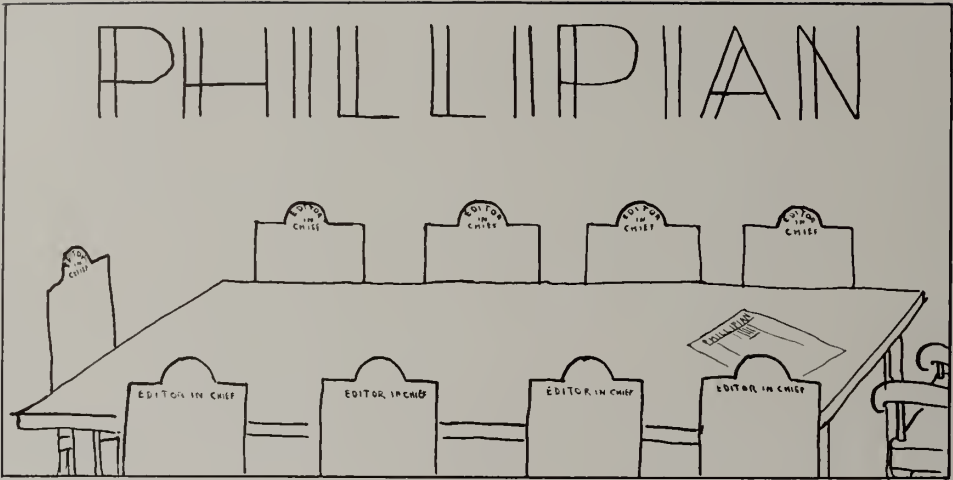

THE Peabody Union is open to every member of the undergraduate body. Its purpose is recreational and educational. It has a pool table, ping pong tables, and facilities for chess, checkers, and cards. The Union originally consisted of seven clubs: the Chess Club, the Social Problems Club, the Sports Club, the French Club, the German Club, the Outing Club, and the Literary Club. Of these, only the Social Problems Club remains affiliated to the Union. The Chess Club and the Sports Club are now extinct. The Literary Club and the Outing Club have broken away from the Union and have been reorganized. The French and German Clubs are under the same organization as ever, but have also left the fold.

The Union itself remains. There students may gather to play games, listen to the radio, or read magazines. Smoking is allowed. Many of the organization's fondest hopes were shattered this year by the epidemic of German measles, during which time the building was used as an addition to the Infirmary.

BLESSED with one of the best and most talented editorial boards in its history, The Phillipian, begun in 1878, maintained its fine tradition throughout the past year under the able leadership of Newell Brown, Editor-in-Chief. James S. Copley, Business Manager, and William D. Hart, Managing Editor.

Due to the excellent work of Business Manager Copley and due to the large number of advertisements secured by the business board and its heelers, it is safe to say that the paper was able to publish more pages and more issues than any other preparatory school newspaper in the country. This large volume was tremendously aided by the systematic method of putting out The Phillipian and by the fine co-operation and assistance given by the numerous members of the editorial board. The series of large issues was continued right down to the final ten-page issue containing a pictorial supplement put out by the retiring 1934-35 board at the close of the Winter Term.

The editorial policy of The Phillipian this year has been such as to cause a great deal of discussion and controversy among the student body. Its purpose was to bring before the undergraduates vital school issues, present the case on each side, and allow the students to act as they saw fit. A vigorous campaign was carried on in the spring of 1934 against certain corrupt tendencies in the fraternity system and in the methods of voting in school elections. Student managerships also came in for their share of the attack. Through its editorial columns The Phillipian pledged itself to discuss important national and international affairs which have a direct bearing on this changing world. Not only in its editorials but also in its articles on athletic contests, lectures, and concerts did The Phillipian assume a truly critical manner when the occasion merited it.

A great deal of the success The Phillipian has enjoyed can be attributed to the faithful co-operation of the printers, Smith & Coutts Co. The co-operation and assistance of the advertisers have made possible the paper's financial success. Rarely have there been so many competent Upper Middlers on the boards, both editorial and business, so that The Phillipian will be in seasoned hands for the coming year, if nothing more.

WE present the Pot Pourri of 1935 as somewhat changed from the ordinary. A new cover has been put on, and a new type of cut for section divisions, executed by Cleve Ginsberg, has been adopted. Campus views have been spread more liberally throughout the book, and several new organizations appear for the first time. At the same time a number of organizations have had their space reduced, and all the pages containing records of old Andover-Exeter games have been swept away.

The humor section has been almost exclusively in the hands of Tobias Miller and Charles Wing, and the drawings in it are by Harold Cross, the author of both frontispiece and colored cover, John Hall, Robert Stevens, Andrew Wingate, and Gordon King.

The business board has worked with unceasing effort and has finally succeeded in scraping up in this year of depression almost as many advertisements as in normal times. Mr. Hopper, as financial adviser, and Mr. Leonard, as literary adviser, have shown much interest and given a helping hand whenever anything troublesome arose. Mr. Huntress has continued in his long service as official photographer, and has made all the group pictures free of charge. The printers at Smith & Coutts have been unusually patient with all the delays and troubles that have arisen. In short, we wish to thank all people concerned for their part in making the 1935 Pot Pourri what we hope to be a success.

BLUE BOOK BOARD

HE Blue Book can be said to be the veritable bible of the new boy at Andover. A compact pocket-sized volume, it contains varied, useful information in connection with the numerous activities and regulations on the Hill, as well as other bits of miscellaneous matter such as train schedules and Western Union hours. Fulfilling a most important need in campus life, this reference book becomes almost a necessity to the new man getting acclimated to his new surroundings.

The work of publication rests entirely in the hands of the student editors and business managers. While the one board takes care of the editorial end of the work, bringing up to date the information in the book of the preceding year, the other secures the advertisements through which the publication is made available free of charge to the students. While from its nature the Blue Book leaves little opportunity for change from year to year, enough gradual cutting, adding, and rearranging have been done so that this year's edition scarcely resembles the original book of 1921.

The Blue Book opens with a welcome written by the Headmaster to the new men. Next follows a complete list of the members of the faculty, including the committee chairmen. Pursuant to this and comprising the main volume of the book comes information concerning the honor roll, the captains and managers of the sports and other notes about the athletic department, the numerous clubs on the campus, the fraternities, and the four publications with information about hearing for them. Then come summaries of the activities of the Art Gallery, the Library, and the Office, and on the final pages, the cheers and songs of Andover, the railroad, bus, and Western Union schedules. With its abundance of helpful facts, the Blue Book has proved invaluable to returning as well as new men throughout the thirteen years of its publication.

MIRROR BOARD

HE Mirror was originally published by the members of Philo to give those students who were interested in writing a chance to produce their literary efforts. After several years it was given up as a financial failure. A few years ago, under the instigation of Mr. Blackmer, it was revived with great success.

Football

Among the large squad which reported for football practice last fall, there were twelve returning letter-men, Captain Sears, Burdick, Hite, Chaney, Viens, Moody, Cahners, Graham, Miller, Sharretts, Kellogg, and Gardner. Two new men, Wilson and Dyess, succeeded in clinching positions on the first eleven. With the exception of Ed Flanagan, a coaching addition, the staff of mentors remained the same.

The team's first contest resulted in a surprising victory for the invaders, New Hampton Prep, who made the only touchdown of the game on a 65-yard run after intercepting a pass.

Two weeks later, after the Harvard Freshman game had been postponed on account of rainy weather, the now-famous Viens to Moody combination was the factor that vanquished the yearlings from Eli Yale, 6-0, during another mud contest in which the whole team performed creditably.

In by far the most exciting game of the season before the finale with Exeter, the Blue fell before the Brown Frosh, 21-20, on the last play of the game. Sadly depleted by the temporary loss of Burdick, signal caller, and of Sharretts, the team's strongest punter, who was forced out for the remainder of the season, the Andover team was further weakened by a severe ankle injury to Kellogg. The Blue was leading 20-7 toward the end of the encounter, largely through the efforts of Viens. Then, against a team containing many subs, Brown scored twice, the last touchdown being made simultaneously with the gun. The winning point was kicked after the game had properly finished.

The New Hampshire Fresh. the last opponents of the Blue before the Exeter contest, were beaten 20-0 without a great deal of difficulty by an aroused and fighting Andover eleven.

Due to their superior season record, Exeter was generally rated the favorite before the annual clash over a Blue eleven riddled by injuries and unfortunate breaks throughout the season.

The game was as close and hard-fought as predicted, with Andover winning 7-6, a reversal of last year's score. A pass from Viens to Chaney and a conversion by Burdick brought the score in one of the most exciting and tense games ever played between the two rivals. Exeter made her six points on a plunge by Miller in the last quarter. Little individual praise can be given, for practically every man did his utmost and played exceptionally well.

At the conclusion of the season, John Winston Graham was elected captain of next year's team; Atwood Collins Ely is to succeed Robert Cushman as manager.

Baseball

The weather conditions were perfect. The field was dry; the sky was blue and windless, tremors of anxiety passing through the stands beneath the balmy sun. The Exonian aggregation was batting first. In the second inning they pushed a run across the plate. Coming up in their half the Andover nine scored, evening the count, and followed up in the third with another tally, going into the lead. Starting off the sixth with a savage attack upon pitcher Platt, the Red and Gray regained the lead with a two run rally. But this was of no avail as the Blue tied the score in her half and went again into the lead in the eighth, knocking the Exeter pitcher out of the box with four tallies.

Soon afterwards, Shean, performing admirably as a relief hurler, caught the last pop fly for the third out, and Andover had won the fifty-third annual baseball contest with her ancient rival, Exeter, 7-3. The fielding of the Andover team was superb; the mound performances of Platt and Shean were excellent; and Captain Heller must be congratulated on his fine playing and his starting of that crucial rally in the fatal eighth.

At the beginning of the 1934 season, the prospects of victory in the season's finale were dubious. Later, however, Andover became more formidable, winning over fifty percent of her games. The team, directed by Leonard Burdett, an old Andover man, who was serving his first year as head coach, was composed of six returning letter-men, including Captain Heller, Platt, Kellogg, Holt, Stevens, and Badger. Backed by these veterans the new coach had his work cut out for him in moulding the new material, of which there was an abundance, with the old and tried veterans.

In the first game of the season an untried and unbalanced Blue nine lost to the veteran Haverhill High team in a hard-fought extra-inning tilt by the score, 12-9. This game was featured by the stellar playing of Grondahl, Blue second-baseman. The second contest of the season saw the Blue victorious over the Harvard J. V's, but the following Saturday saw them borne under by the bats of the St. John's team to the tune of 17-3. The team redeemed itself, however, on the following Wednesday, shutting out Milton Academy 1-0.

In the next game the Blue bowed before Lawrence, but the following Wednesday saw them pull a surprise, outbating the Yale Freshmen, 8-5. The next two contests were lost, the Boston College and the Harvard Freshmen being victorious; but in the following two, the Blue managed to turn the tables, defeating Governor Dummer and overwhelming Belmont Hill 21-0. The remaining contests of the season against the Harvard Freshmen, Tufts, St. John's, Huntington, Worcester, and the Andover Town Team, saw the Blue steadily improving.

At the conclusion of the season E. H. Kellogg was elected next year's captain, and W. E. Roosevelt, manager.

Track

With a returning nucleus of ten letter-men led by Captain Harding of pole vaulting fame, Coach Shepard, ably assisted by a number of instructors, moulded the 1934 track team into one of the most powerful in recent years. An indomitable spirit combined with remarkable strength in the running events brought the squad undefeated through the difficult season which Manager Woolsey had compiled and gave the school its third successive win over Exeter.

For the first time in the history of the competition there was a winter meet between the ancient rivals. The Blue entered the contest slightly the underdog as she had sustained two defeats during the winter; the end of the afternoon, however, found her with 47 1-2 points to Exeter's 38 1-2. In the deciding event, 1200-yard relay, Wolf, Stevens, Hay, and Kiley set a new school record.

Winning every first and all but two seconds, the Blue swamped Bridgton 111 to 14 in the opening meet of the spring term.

The Yale Freshmen were highly favored at the opening of the second contest, but the Blue took 9 firsts to come out on the long end of a 69 1-2 to 58 1-2 score. The finish of the mile brought the spectators to their feet as Horne edged out Wooden of Yale to win by inches.

Andover took a 70 to 56 victory from the Harvard Freshmen in the third meet of the season as revenge for the defeat during the winter. Although Dubiel struggled valiantly for the Crimson and won four firsts and two seconds for a total of 26 points, yet the home team managed to win all the running events except the 880 and came away victorious.

Worcester went down to the tune of 88 to 38 in the fourth meet of the season. Dartmouth was the fifth victim, losing 84 2-3 to 41 1-3, as Andover took all places in the 880 and the pole vault.

In the last pre-Exeter meet, the Harvard Interscholastics, Andover severely trounced the rest of the field bringing home a score of 67 points which was twenty points more than the Red and Gray was able to obtain. Furse set a new record in the 440 with the fast time of 50 1-5 seconds.

Andover was the favorite when she journeyed to New Hampshire to meet the Red and Gray, and with a 70 to 56 victory she confirmed the forecast by chalking up the third consecutive win over her ancient rival. The second team came forth on the long end of an 86 1-2 to 39 1-2 score. Horne was one of the most distinguished performers of the afternoon, winning both the mile and the half mile. Captain-elect Wolf also showed up well, taking a first place right out of Kerr's hands as he passed him in the last ten yards of the 100, and he also won the 220. Andover came home with seven wins and a tie, leaving six firsts and a tie for Exeter.

SKI TEAM

THIS year for the first time a ski team was organized at Andover. This was made possible through the work of Mr. Sanborn, who organized an Outing Club last year in which skiing was a major activity, and who made arrangements to have skiing recognized as a regular sport here this winter. Last fall and during the spring term of 1934 seven or eight undergraduates, under the supervision of Mr. Sanborn, and with the help of Mr. Barss and Mr. Minard, cleared a steep slope on Boston Hill and cut a ski trail from Prospect Hill to Boston Hill. Both the slope and the trail were ready for use this winter and proved very successful.

About fifty boys signed up for skiing, a number far greater than had been expected. They were divided into two groups, A and B, according to their ability, and arrangements were made for members of A squad to instruct B squad on certain days, thus providing beginners an excellent opportunity of getting started right.

The season started with an informal meet with the Brooks School. A slalom race was run down Boston Hill, and a cross-country race was run over the trail to Prospect Hill. Andover easily won the slalom, but was defeated in the cross-country.

For the next meet six members of A squad, with Coach Sanborn and Mr. Gray, went to the interscholastics held by the Nansen Ski Club at Berlin, N. H. There, as was to be expected, Andover did not place, but the trip was a valuable experience and showed where Andover's skiers stood in relation to those of the northern New Hampshire high schools.

The third meet was held at Tilton, N. H., with Tilton Academy. The events were a slalom race, down-hill race, and jumping. Andover easily won the meet with a score of nineteen to seven.

The last contest was the interscholastic meet at Cushing Academy, in which about fifteen schools were entered. The events were slalom, down-hill, and cross-country races, and jumping. Deerfield Academy won the meet, with Cushing second and Andover third. Captain Flanders scored Andover's only points by placing third in the cross-country race.

Hockey

Although Mr. Jackson had five letter-men, Captain Davis, Gardner, Curtis, Hazeltine, and Wickwire, to use as the basis for his team, he was confronted with the difficult problem of developing enough good hockey players to fill the remaining positions. Holt took care of the goal tending, while Gardner and Hazeltine were paired as the regular defense. A first forward line of Curtis at center and Davis and Eames on the wings was quickly formed and functioned as a high-scoring unit throughout the season. After considerable juggling and much hard work a second line of Hazen, Wickwire, and Chase was put together.

The team played its first game against Noble and Greenough at Dedham. The regulation three periods ended with the score tied, 2-2, but with only five seconds of the overtime remaining, Noble and Greenough made another goal to win the game. Davis scored both of Andover's goals, one on a pass from Curtis.

After losing a two-goal lead in the second period to an inferior Middlesex team, the Blue came back in the last session to score a 5-3 victory. Davis and Curtis with two goals each and Eames with one tallied for Andover. The team lost its second overtime game of the season against Arlington, 4-2, in a hard-fought contest. Davis and Chase made the goals with Curtis and Wickwire feeding them the passes.

In the St. Mark's game at Southborough the team turned in its best performance up to that date. Trailing 1-0 midway through the last period, Andover rallied and scored two goals in five minutes to win. Curtis tied the count and Chase made the winning marker on Hazen's pass. Good goal tending by Holt and splendid defensive work by Gardner and Hazeltine also featured the contest.

Exeter as usual entered the Andover game the top-heavy favorite. The Red and Gray scored a fluke goal in the first minute, Jameson's attempted pass-out hitting Holt's skate and bounding into the net. Andover struggled desperately to match this goal, but the Exeter defense held, and the first period ended with the score 1-0. Soon after the second period began, Curtis and Gardner broke away together, and although Curtis's shot from close-in was blocked, Gardner skated in fast to net the rebound. Both teams played fast, aggressive hockey, but it was not until late in the last period that Exeter's Captain Feeley scored the winning goal, the final score being 2-1. Andover's veterans, Captain Pete Davis, Gig Gardner, and Captain-elect George Curtis, were its outstanding stars in a game in which the Blue gave its old rival its hardest battle in ten years.

Wrestling

With the exception of Captain Bird and Lederer, Coach Carlson found little experienced material to work with at the beginning of this season. He succeeded, however, in building up a team that won four of its seven meets, lost two, and closed one with a draw. Captain Bird, wrestling in the 155-pound class, proved to be the most outstanding member of the team. He gained falls in five of his seven matches, and won time decisions in the other two. Also outstanding were the records of Cochran, who, although he lost once by a time decision, gained four falls and two decisions in his other matches, and of Captain-elect Borough with four time decisions, one fall, and one tie.

In the first meet, the Andover wrestlers lost to Quincy High School by the small score of 13 1-2 to 12 1-2. In the unlimited class, the decisive match, Adams fought to a draw. Cochran gained the only fall of the afternoon.

The second meet saw the Tufts Freshmen decisively beaten by the score of 27 1-2 to 11 1-2. The Andover matmen were victorious in six bouts and secured one draw. Falls were made by Captain Bird, Huffard, Roe, and Cochran.

Andover won the third meet rather easily. Winning five out of eight bouts, they defeated Milton Academy 17-11. Captain Bird gained a fall.

Facing a strong Harvard Freshman team, the Blue wrestlers fought to a grim 14-14 tie. Cochran was beaten for the first and only time of the season; Captain Bird, Borough, Lederer, and Minor won their matches.

The second defeat for Andover was encountered in the Taft meet, with a score of 17-13. The unlimited match was the decisive one, in which Adams lost. Still keeping his record clear, Bird gained a fall. Cochran also pinned his opponent.

The next meet resulted in a 25-5 victory for the Blue over Browne and Nichols. Falls were gained by Bird, Kausel, and Cochran; time decisions in three of the matches were also won by Andover.

With a record of three victories, two defeats, and one tie, Andover entered the Exeter encounter as a slight favorite. The Blue matmen finished the season with an overwhelming victory over the Red and Gray with a score of 23 1-2 to 4 1-2. Captain Bird gained a fall to finish an unsmirched season. Elkan wrestling in the 125-pound class also pinned his man.

Swimming

An exceptional amount of ability was represented in the original hundred and fifty swimmers that reported to Coach Dake last fall. Although only five of them were returning letter-men, Captain Wingate, Griffin, Kiphuth, DeWitt, and Cushman, this deficiency was remedied by such outstanding men, new to the team, as Shand, Burns, Howard, MacDonald, and Rhoads.

The first meet of the season was marked principally by the lack of competition, in which Andover swamped an incomplete Brown Freshman team 57-6.

The next meet with Dartmouth spelled a 28-37 defeat for the Andover swimmers. The encounter was notable for the spectacular performance of Cushman in the 200-yard freestyle and of the relay team, and for the fact that two of the pool records were broken by the New Hampshire contenders.

The following meet scheduled with Gardner was cancelled. Andover went into Cambridge the succeeding Saturday to compete in the Class A Harvard Interscholastics. The ensuing victory for the Blue was due, in addition to the excellent support of the team, to the first places scored by Cushman in the 200-yard freestyle and by the relay team.

The meet with Worcester, ending in a 44-21 victory for Andover, was enlivened by the brilliant 150-yard medley race. The team of MacDonald, Kiphuth, and DeWitt secured a lead of almost a length over their opponents, to break the pool record with the time of 1 min. 29 4-5 sec.

The following meet with the Boston Boys' Club was a complete runaway for Andover. In this meet three school records were clipped, in the 200-yard freestyle by Cushman, in the 150-yard medley, and in the 200-yard relay. The score was 50-13.

Andover easily won out over Huntington the following Saturday 39-26. It was in this meet that Cushman chalked up his second record-breaking time in the 200-yard race of 2 min. 10 3-5 sec. In addition, the medley team of Burns, Ryder, and Shand tied the school record of 1 min. 28 4-5 sec.

The Blue received its second defeat of the season at the hands of the Harvard Freshmen, 30-35. The meet hinged on the relay event, which the Andover swimmers lost because the distance had been changed from the accustomed 200 yards to 400 yards.

The season was brought to a successful close by the complete victory of 47-18 over the Exeter team at Andover. Exeter lost every first place except in the diving events. Among the high spots of the meet were the new records established by Howard in the 50-yard freestyle, by the 150-yard medley men, and by Cushman in the 200-yard freestyle. Both Wingate in the 100-yard freestyle and Ryder in the 100-yard breaststroke tied former meet records.

Basketball

Under the leadership of Captain Kellogg, the Andover basketball team's prospects for the season of 1935 were excellent. There was an abundance of good material upon which to draw. C. Kellogg, Peelor, Viens, and Moody, all letter-men and veterans of last year's Exeter game, and Cameron, a likely-looking newcomer, showed up well in practice. Injuries, however, began to take their toll early in the season. As the result of a severely sprained ankle, Captain Kellogg was kept out of the line-up until well on into the year.

Forecasts were for a very stiff schedule, as Manager Littlefield had arranged thirteen contests. The opening game saw Andover come out on the wrong end in a hard-fought tussle with Lowell High, 29-25. Good teamwork and steady shooting featured this opening game with a seasoned rival which ended with the Blue on the crest of a rally but which had started too late to achieve its purpose.

In the following three games Andover was victorious over the M. I. T. Freshmen, the N. H. U. Freshmen, and the Boston Boys' Club in close, hard-fought games. During the Brockton High contest what appeared to be a safe lead was swept away in the closing minutes by a sharp rally of the visitors. Andover lost 26-25. After this defeat the Andover hoopsters went on to down successively New Hampton, New Hampshire Freshmen, Bridgton, Tufts Freshmen, and Governor Dummer. In the Tufts game Captain Kellogg saw action for the first time this season, taking up his old position at center. The final games before the Exeter contest saw the Blue go down before the Harvard Freshmen and Junior Varsity teams, thus completing the pre-Exeter season with eight victories to four defeats.

The Blue basketball team entered the Exeter contest almost on equal terms with their New Hampshire rivals, who had won eight out of the nine contests engaged in. Putting on the floor five veterans, all of whom had seen action the year before in the Red and Gray engagement, under the leadership of Captain Kellogg, himself a veteran of two Exeter contests, Andover could not have had conditions more favorable to success. The representatives of the Blue, however, were up against one of the strongest Exonian aggregations of recent years. Handicapped by unfortunate shooting in the opening quarter of the game, the Blue never succeeded in overtaking their opponents, and the game ended, 33-20, with Andover vainly trying to shatter their rival's tight defense.

Baker, Moody, Viens, Captain Kellogg, Reiter, C. Kellogg, Dyess, and Melendy, all seniors, saw service for Andover. Next year Coach Billhardt will have his work cut out for him trying to turn out a creditable team, as he will have to start from scratch without one letter-man around which to build. E. H. Kellogg was re-elected captain and Edwin Masback manager for the coming year.

Tennis

With only Captain Dalrymple and John Foreman returning from last year's varsity and Ed Barnes from the second team, prospects did not loom so bright at the beginning of the 1934 tennis season. However, under the expert tutelage of Coach Blackmer several newcomers, among whom were H. Thompson, Peelor, and Mendel, took their places on the squad. These were backed with good if inexperienced reserves, and there was a continual struggle during the season for positions on the varsity.

The first match of the year was played against the M. I. T. Freshmen, and Andover emerged victorious, losing only the last two singles. Most of the players experienced a good deal of difficulty in this first match, and H. Thompson was the only one who overcame his opponent easily.

The following week marked a Blue victory over the favored Harvard Freshmen. The Andover men for the most part had overcome their early season awkwardness, and they displayed a good brand of tennis.

The Blue suffered its first and only defeat of the season against the Harvard J. V. in its next match. Playing without the services of its first three players, Dalrymple, Foreman, and Peelor, who were engaged at that time in the Princeton Interscholastics, it succumbed by the score of 8 to 1. Ed Barnes was the only winner for Andover. Meanwhile at Princeton the Andover team placed third among the competing preparatory and high schools.

The following week the Blue put itself back on the winning side by turning the tables on Milton at the latter school 7 to 2. Captain Dalrymple and H. Thompson were the outstanding players in this match.

St. Paul's traveled to Andover and was swept off the courts by the Blue netmen, who secured a 9 to 0 victory.

In its final match before its annual contest with Exeter, Andover defeated St. Mark's 8 to 1, with Foreman losing the only match against an excellent opponent.

The following week the Blue was behind 4 to 1 to the Red and Gray, Captain Dalrymple being the only one who had won his match, when a terrific rainstorm stopped play. The sixth singles match was practically even, with Peelor of Andover and Brown of Exeter each having won one set. A few days later the match was continued with Exeter needing only one more victory to win the match. Peelor won his match making the score 4 to 2. Then Andover swept the doubles matches giving it the victory 5 to 4. None of that Blue team will ever regret a rainstorm in the future.

Lacrosse

The 1934 lacrosse team enjoyed the most successful year that lacrosse at Andover has ever had, winning every one of the games. The Blue team ran up a total of 83 goals against the 26 scored by their opponents. The prospects at the opening of the season were only fair, since Mr. James had only three returning letter-men, Captain Moyer, McLean, and Henry, as a nucleus. The addition of R. V. Smith, a new man with previous experience, gave the team four men who provided support for the recruits. Intensive coaching in stickwork and team play gave the squad a skill which more than offset their heavier opponents.

In the opening game of the season, Andover defeated Harvard Junior Varsity with a score of 19 goals to 7, with Smith, Henry, and McLean accounting for most of Andover's points.

Gaining confidence from their first victory, Andover thoroughly defeated Tufts Freshmen by 13 goals to 1, proving their superior cooperation and skill.

The Boston Lacrosse Club game gave Andover a chance to avenge the sole defeat of the 1933 season, and the Blue set out to prove its mettle. After two extra periods Andover finally reversed the score of last season, McLean netting the winning point in a score of 8 to 7.

The following week saw the Blue team at Cambridge playing the Harvard Freshmen. Andover commenced the game in a ragged fashion, but ended with a victory of 10 goals to 5.

The Springfield Freshman encounter provided little opposition for the Blue team, now working with precision, and the afternoon ended with another victory of 14 to 0.

The final game of the season against the Dartmouth Freshmen commenced with a firm determination on Andover's part to keep the slate clean, and despite their opponents' weight the Blue netted a final victory of 19 goals to 6.

Soccer

In his twenty-third year as coach at Andover Jim Ryley again produced an undefeated team this season and had the satisfaction of seeing it neatly triumph over Exeter to vindicate the ties of the last two years. The victory was the Blue's fifth in the seven-game series and the climax of a season of five wins and one tie.

The team achieving this record and entering the Exeter game was composed of Captain Bagg, Hazeltine, and Hall, halfbacks; Howard and Bowen, fullbacks; Cross, goalie; and Thompson, Swihart, Hughes, Robie, and Mendel, forwards. Reed, Clifford, Chakrabandhu, and Hammond also should be mentioned as having seen action throughout the year, primarily in relief roles.

An inexperienced Tufts Freshman team succumbed in the first game of the season by a 4-0 score, Hughes counting for Andover three times and Hazeltine once. The same two players did all the scoring in the Blue's victory over Worcester Academy, the former putting the ball through the opposing goalposts three times and the latter twice.

With three former P. A. men, Robey, Powell, and Simpson, on their roster, the Harvard Yearlings journeyed here from Cambridge for the next contest. A long hard battle resulted, Andover finally winning by the slim margin of a penalty shot by Hazeltine.

The eleven then rose to its peak in avenging Tabor's 4-0 victory of last season,—Coach Ryley's second loss in ten years. At Marion on a narrow field and with shorter periods than usual it emerged victorious by a 5 to 1 count, Mendel, Thompson, Robie, Hammond, and Chakrabandhu each tallying once.

Again on home ground the following week the Blue met a powerful contingent from Dartmouth and could gain no more than a scoreless tie in the hardest match of the difficult schedule that Manager Witschief had arranged. The '38 Indians played the better game all afternoon, and only excellent goal tending by Cross kept the Andover record intact. The home team had its share of bad luck also, however, in the high kicks of Hazeltine and Mendel, both of whom shone on the offence.

Andover's final triumph in the Exeter contest was for many a foregone conclusion, even the Boston papers conceding her a definite edge. Thus few were surprised when the Blue capped off Coach Ryley's eighth undefeated season with a 2-0 victory. The only thing that was surprising was the brilliant playing of Exeter's Eaton and Captain Townsend on their home field, and the stubborn resistance of their teammates.

FENCING TEAM

ITH the skilful coaching of Mr. Barss the fencing team enjoyed one of the most successful seasons it has ever had, winning four out of five matches, and losing only to the Harvard Freshmen.

Governor Dummer, first on the list, was bowled over, Dimock, Morgan, and Jones taking the first five bouts in quick succession. Guerin, Macomber and Beaty finished off the remaining four encounters, losing two. The M. I. T. Freshmen nearly upset this auspicious beginning; but though they led four-three at one point, Guerin and Morgan won the last two matches to gain an Andover victory, 5 to 4. The Blue descended upon Governor Dummer again, with results similar to those of the first encounter; Dimock, Morgan, Jones, Beaty, Macomber, and Koch fenced. With Morgan in the infirmary the Blue found Brown '38 a difficult opponent, but won the foil event five to four and tied the épée two all to take the meet seven to six. Dimock, Jones, Guerin, and Macomber contended in the foils, Guerin and Dimock in the épée. In the Harvard match the Andover team fenced creditably. Morgan, just out of the infirmary, did well in the foils and fenced beautifully with the épée. In the foils Dimock took two bouts and Morgan and Jones got one apiece, but Rowley of Harvard beat each of these Andover men five to nothing. In the épée Morgan won all three of his matches, but got no great amount of support from his teammates Dimock and Guerin, the former winning only one bout and the latter none. The outcome was a Harvard épée victory, five to four, and a match victory, ten to eight. Though a defeat, this was the sharply contested culmination of a season better than most.

POLO TEAM

ALTHOUGH the polo team had profited from its previous season and showed improvement in team play, lack of sufficient experience in competition was noticeable. Andover suffered defeat at the hands of an exceptionally strong Harvard Junior Varsity aggregation and the venerable team of the Dedham Polo Club. Through these setbacks, however, the team gained experience, and Coach Phillips's protégés, under the able leadership of Captain Brown, went to meet Avon on fairly even terms. This last game of the season was a hard-fought match, and, although the valuable services of R. Poor were lost through the ineligibility rule, Andover put up a game fight, finally bowing to a last-minute rally by Avon. In this game Copley, F. Poor, and Woolley showed up well with Captain Brown.

The positions on the team were as follows: J. S. Copley, Manager, at No. 1; F. Poor at No. 2; N. Brown, Captain, and A. H. Robertson at No. 3; R. Poor and C. M. Woolley at back.

GOLF TEAM

WITH only two returning letter-men, Captain Brown and Sides, in the line-up, the golf team had a rather unsuccessful season. The only victories were over the Clark School and the faculty.

The Blue lost its first match to St. Paul's by the score of 5 to 1. J. Peelor was the only Andover player to win his match.

The second match saw another Andover defeat, this time by the Harvard Freshmen by the decisive score of 7 to 2. Captain Brown and J. Peelor both won their matches.

The Dartmouth Freshmen administered a 5 1-2 to 3 1-2 defeat upon the Blue in its third match, Captain Brown and Porter scoring Andover's only victories.

Meeting the faculty at North Andover, the team finally secured a victory of 9-3. It was particularly impressive in that the masters were given the benefit of a ten stroke handicap per match. Mr. Poynter and Dr. Eccles played well for the faculty.

The team reached its top form against the Clark School, winning by the score of 5 to 1.

For the third successive year the Andover golfers lost to Exeter, this time by the extremely close score of 5 to 4. Led by Captain Brown and Manager Flournoy, an underdog Andover team played remarkably fine golf in a closely contested match at the Haverhill Country Club, the match frequently being interrupted by rain. At the close of the season Charles Kellogg was elected captain and G. D. Lawrence manager for the 1935 season.

6 Hundred Students already cleaned up by new *"XI" yeast

Reports from the Famous
Dr. Ivan Itch, of Paris

"Within thirty seconds of taking XI Yeast the patient's spirits rose and he started a new life!" writes Dr. Itch, noted authority on infernal ailments, from the Saltpierre Clinic, Paris. "XI Yeast makes a clean sweep," is the opinion of medical students studying under Dr. Itch, co-author of Up The Alimentary Canal Without A Paddle.

Dr. Ivan Itch advises XI Yeast on all occasions to prevent that after-dinner burp. Just dissolve in your Old-Fashioned or wrap up in good old Beanery tomato-bread.

This, dissipation sufferers, is a still life X-ray photo of that painful tummy of yours. Can't you see those spirits going down, down, down the coils of the condenser to mingle with cigarette butts and dainties from the Commons?

DO YOU SUFFER from that after weekend feeling? Do you feel low down? Does your tongue feel as if the whole Chinese army were marching over it barefooted? Are you dissipated?...If so, what you need is XI Yeast! It rids you of all your troubles and all your troubles of you! Undertakers and Medical Students endorse it heartily and agree unanimously that XI Yeast acts remarkably swiftly and surely. It's O. K. for them when you're K. O'd by XI Yeast!

Apologies

DEAR VANITY FAIR

We humbly crave your pardon for perpetrating this playful piece of parody and we hope that you will not begrudge us the intellectual crumbs that fall from the rich man's table but will remember that imitation is the sincerest form of flattery.—The Editors.

Dedication

We, the Editors of Sanity Scare are solemnly dedicating this issue to all those poor unfortunates within the confines of Phillips Academy, Andover, Massachusetts, who, instead of forbidding themselves to become part and parcel of that infamous institution, have entered into its life of degeneracy; when, had they possessed even one iota of intelligence, even one particle of professed sanity, they should have been honestly terrified at the thought of "studying" at this so-called hall of "learning," should he in all sincerity scared to even set out along its pathway of sin. Whereas a sensible human being would shy at thinking of wasting four years at this center of devilry, these rowdies have chosen to lead a life of corruption in smoking, occasional light hetting, bridge orgies, dancing, dicking, and similar vices so rampant in their riotous campus existence.

It is in the interest of their perennial dissipation and in the hope of augmenting their perpetually ill-sought pleasure that we contribute Sanity Scare for their consideration.

Dear Sirs:

At the request of a friend now recovering from a nervous breakdown, I am submitting this photograph in the hope that you can tell me whether the subject is animal, vegetable, or mineral. I hope I have sent the picture right side up.

Emma Fraidy

Danvers, Massachusetts

We don't blame you for your puzzlement, Miss Fraidy,—which side is up? This photo might be almost anything from pithecanthropus erectus to Vesuvius erupting. A close study, with dark glasses of course, will reveal that it is no one else but that dainty dandelion "Bulldog" Swope showing how he discouraged Seniors from prepping him his first year here in Andover.
That strong silent look comes from breaking chain letters. In his spare time the "Bulldog" picks up a little pocket money by collecting for the Society of Inquiry.—The Editors.

First man of the race

No, ladies and gentlemen,—this is not Jimmy Durante, but that old cinder-burner and funny man, Adam "Snake in the Grass" Jake Wolf who leads a fast life, burning the track at both ends. They say God made Adam first and woman came after, and women have been after Adam ever since. Do you wonder why?

This comes pretty near to telling you how FRESH your mouth will taste
after smoking SPUDS
all day

Parting shot

Suddenly before the gay crowd loomed the gigantic figure of Primo Roberta far from his home Cage. At sight of this horror women fainted and strong men paled. Seizing the shot from the ground, the monster gave vent to a soul-stirring grunt and heaved the iron sphere into the mists of infinity where it landed with a dull thud. Then raising a brawny arm in a gesture of farewell the man mountain, inflated with triumphant pride over his mighty feat, hoarsely roared, "Caesar, we who are about to die salute you," and hurtled out, crashing the gate as he departed.

Here you have the most popular man in school, a composite photograph of the seven members of the Senior Council. He is the big man in P. A., the ideal school leader. ## IF WE RAN THE SCHOOL • BY O. YEAH

If we ran the school we'd make it a rule that there'd be coeducation,
 By popular vote the popular note is that sometime besides vacation
 There be fem-sem presence to help with our lessons and strike a happier medium,
 For the feminine coys and the P. A. boys, who,
     Lord knows, certainly needy'em.
 We'd have on the stage sans equipage, every Saturday even',
 The best you know in a musical show, and your eyes won't be deceivin':
 By a general division we'll make provision so this thing will be certain, Though you're evil inclined we'll put you behind so you'll all be pulling the curtain.
 And the chorus girls that the student whirls to the strains of the Orchestra Beanery
 Will be waitresses whose dancing-mate presses to "come out and enjoy the scenery." The Infirmary, it's easy to see, is already on the path
 To take its place in our modern pace with that cooling alcohol bath.
 With a cute little nurse you're bound to get worse if you're not such a simple dub.
 You turn on your back, (she's got the knack).
     —aye, there's the rub!

If we ran the school we'd no more be fool, but abolish P. I. toute de suite,
 To this dreaded affliction there is thus a restriction, and champs are allowed to compete.
 More than con will turn pro and we'll see that it's so, and make all our athletes professional,
 When we then meet our rival in equal connival
     we should find ourselves much more progressional.
 As for noble Phillipian gone recently Skippyan
     we'll bestow not upon it our blessing, With its "hee'ers" and sages, its praises and rages, it has still not established free pressing.
 The Riveters and Mirror, there's no one thing
     surer, seem now to be quite antiquated,
 But when we're elected they'll not be neglected and growth will be soon propagated.
 Not a trifling affair, it will be all fair and square when group pictures for Pot Pourri are taken

Sanity Scare's resolutions revealing that the gong will be kicked around when we direct the destinies of old P. A.

As members of a Board dear friends are ignored, while real members will not be forsaken.
 The Gallery of Art has opened its heart with a not-unwelcome bare greeting,
 'Twill be as concluded, completely denuded, for hours of quiet retreating.
 When Friday nights come there'll be "Blossom"
     Prom, as hot as the ore of a forger,
 And a railway discount so the Andover Count may bring up his Peaches from Georgia.

For appeals to appease, you may smoke where you please, and instead of there being prevention,
 To poke up the chiminey will be, by jiminy,
     nothing short of convention.
 With unlimited cuts the perennial nuts will forever be absent from classes;
 In such time of transition they will take their position in line with the rest of the asses.
 All stewed gents and students from too dense to few sense, when we obtain control,
 With a strong reprimand will be taken in hand and p'aced on the first honor roll.
 This is mood temporary and surely must vary with a future intellectual movement.
 But the way things are now we are forced to allow we see no signs of improvement.
 And the Holmes Library in a manner contrary is demolished without any scruple.
 We sincere'y admit there's no book in it but what merely confounds the pupil.
 Young ladies and messrs will all be professors,
     which is quite an unusual rule.
 And as for our teachers, good men and good preachers, we'll send them all back to school.
 If you've any suggestion to relieve present congestion, and it isn't too naughty or cruel,
 And it's all for the better, just drop us a letter.
     —we'll fix it...when we run the school.

Peter Dugan vs.

D. H. v. d. Stucken

Vandy: Good day, my dear Herr Dugan, and how is the state of your health this morning?

Pete: Hi.

Vandy: You know, the more my observant optics rest upon your physiognomy the more do I realize that you are a unique representative of the great American common people.

Pete: Yea, I was in the navy. I was a sailor. I fought for the likes of you and me, yes Sir, for the likes of you and me.

Vandy: Angels and ministers of grace defend us! My friend, allow me to introduce an idea through your cranial wall. The status of world affairs is such that because of the drought in Afghanistan the situation at Reykjavik will have become so strained that Madagascar will declare her independence and the United States will be embroiled in war. You understand, of course, that this is strictly entre nous, and that I am not speaking obiter dicta huc ex cathedra.

Pete: Oh sure, chevrolet and e pluribus unum. Things is terrible I was kidnapped once, yes sir, I was kidnapped. I won't mention any names.....

Vandy: Piffle!

Pete: No, it wasn't Piffle.

Vandy: Donnerwetter noch einmal! I presume that your present employment is more remunerative than your former one of selling edibles from the subterranean recesses of your Roaming Spa, though no doubt you miss the gentle fragrance of hot dogs....

W. MICHAEL SIDES—PROFESSOR

"OPUS TRAVI" (STUART TRAVIS)—CRAFTSMAN

RAY SHEPARD—COACH

ALICE T. WHITNEY—RECORDER

We nominate for the Hall of Fame

W. MICHAEL SIDES, because as instructor in Mathematics and Mechanical Drawing he has commanded the esteem and admiration of all his students since his appointment in 1919; because "Mike" has now for four consecutive years been chosen by the Senior class as the best teacher in Phillips Academy; because the "average and better than average man" can see that "in the light of experience in the quiet of his own room" he has "lived the condition" and "presented the finest demonstrations in the mathematics"; because "in connection therewith" he is "ever on the alert" to "keep open the lines of communication" with "merely a parallel thought"; because of his ability to make sound judgments, and his loyalty, integrity, honesty, and solidity of character; because among his hobbies are gardening and building; and because he deserves maximum credit for being both a fine sportsman and a great fellow

ALICE T. WHITNEY, because for thirty-three years in her status of Recorder she has catered with enduring patience to the earnest inquiries of Andover boys; because Miss Whitney is so reserved that she refused the honor of receiving the dedication of the 1930 Pot Pourri by forbidding her name to be used; because in friendly interest she has made it her business to concern herself with straightening out difficulties that have arisen outside of the routine question of absences and excuses; because she has an amazing memory; because her familiar "all-clear" has struck a note of relief in the ears of countless hundreds of P. A. men; and because Miss Whitney is so modest about the important part that she plays in tending to the smooth running of the school organism that when she finds that we have stolen her portrait and published it in our Hall of Fame, the editors will receive a well-deserved scolding

"OPUS TRAVI," because this pseudonym masks the identity of Stuart Travis, an artist and craftsman whom the Medici would have delighted to patronize; because he is a man to whom the exercising of his art is at once a privilege and a responsibility,—a privilege to create beauty and apply true craftsmanship and a responsibility to inspire by the power of these qualities in the creation; because he is an enemy of the abstruse and meretricious grotesqueries masquerading under the name of art; because he has given to Phillips Academy several examples of his art in the Historical Map in the Holmes Library, in the wrought-iron gate to the Moncrieff Cochran Sanctuary, and in his splendid map for the Commons on which he is now at work; because even a casual contact with him reveals a man who loves beauty for its own sake and who forms it with a patient and sure hand and with a loving reverence for the tools with which it is created

RAY SHEPARD, because as an experienced athletic coach he has given Andover thirteen track victories in the Harvard Inter-scholastics since his appointment in 1918 and a football and track triumph over Exeter this school year; because it has been often remarked that the track program under Mr. Shepard is second to that of no other school; because under his competent leadership and strong faith P. A. athletes have been taught the culture of their bodies through the exercise of manly vigor; because he held the world's record in the 16-pound shot put for three minutes; because in his quiet and patient manner he has yet an alert sense of humor and is full of fun and frolic; and because "Shep," having given up the game of golf after a futile but noble attempt, is now as remarkable a billiard player as a noteworthy mentor in the world of sport

In assembling the material for this book a very important part is its reproduction of photographs. By means of photography all the events of the year are perpetuated. The faces of classmates grow dim with the years. A good likeness in this book recalls to the present many happy times of the past, and keeps fresh the old school days.

For about twenty years I have had the pleasure of being the photographer for the Pot Pourri, giving up my studio to making the originals which are used for this annual.
